

A vibrant illustration of a cardinal perched on a branch, surrounded by various butterflies and greenery against a wooden plank background. The cardinal is the central focus, shown in profile facing left. It has bright red feathers, a black mask around its eyes, and a pointed crest. The background consists of vertical wooden planks in shades of green and blue. Several butterflies of different colors (purple, pink, yellow, and light purple) are scattered around the cardinal. There are also green leaves and small red berries on the right side, and a large, faint circular shape behind the text.

“...when you
put your life
in a good place, good things follow.”

WILLIE NELSON